leader of the opposition, they would probably have had that time completed by this time. (Applause.) The British Columbia government which had been held up to them as an example had not built a mile of railway since the time of the 1906 election. It was not prepared to admit that there had been any extravagance away in the province of Alberta, considering the amount of mail-road mileage which had been necessarily undertaken, and which had necessarily depleted the labor market and made heavy demands on the financial market.

Revenue for Legitimate Expenses. Reference had been made to a debt of nearly $1,000,000. The actual debt of the province did amount to nearly $1,000,000 into which their revenue accounts would have been credited if they had at one jump. That indebtedness had arisen during a number of years and each year the people had been acquainted of the extent of their indebtedness. The debt was an surprise to the people of the country who knew that great public works had been under construction and that the money had to be borrowed. It was unfair to say that twenty per cent of the money had gone to the towns and cities inasmuch as the greater part of the money had been spent on public buildings which were as beneficial and necessary to the rural parts of the province as to the towns and cities.

Dr. Rutherford said he was glad to learn that the telephone system was paying its way. For himself he thought the Dominion ought to own the telephone systems throughout the whole of Canada, and he thought the time might not be far distant when the government at Ottawa might be able to take over not only the provincial systems but also the privately owned systems throughout the Dominion and administer them somewhat after the fashion of the customs department. He reiterated the loss of nearly $600,000 grant from the federal government which must accrue to the province during the next two and a half years because at the last census the population of Alberta did not reach the 400,000 mark. The sister province, Saskatchewan, in the next 2 1/2 years would receive somewhere about $1,000,000 more than they would get from that source. He agreed that the position of the provincial treasurer was not a bed of roses, because the finances of the province were not very flexible. The revenue from Dominion and local sources for 1912 would be $2,577,716, leaving a deficit of $251,627. He did not know that it would be worse for the government to make any change this year, but he thought the government should make an effort to set the ordinary revenue balance the ordinary expenditure, until they got control of the natural resources of the province. He suggested the government might consider the advisability of a tax on railways and a small tax on the output of coal in the province, especially those mines which did not pay royalties. With regard to the London government not handing over the natural resources on political grounds, he did not agree that the London government had suggested the presentation in the government at Ottawa of a memorial such as was presented by Manitoba requesting that they should receive their rights in the natural resources. He thought both sides of the house ought to be patriotic enough to join in a memorial of that kind, which is in which the opposition joined.

More Opposition Criticism. T. M. Tweedie, Calgary, commented upon the lack of detailed criticism of the budget to which Mr. McMillen had referred, complaining that the opposition had not before then the public accounts for 1911. While these facts which were established from the opposition were used by the Prime Minister to show that the financial position of the province was not of good standing, the speaker went on to charge the provincial administration with running the province into debt while professing publicly that there should be no necessity to incur any public debt. There had always been an effort on the part of the government to show a surplus, and in 1908 they found $650,812 included in the revenue which item balance sheet and was subsequently included in

NEW DEBATE, TO-DAY.—That Women's Revenue is becoming more than ever a sign of the times is indicated by the above picture. The hon. member for Calgary did not with them to put items in the estimates because they did not know at what date they would be received. The item of $1,000,000 represented money they would get from various sources during the year, and although one or two of them might be of an experimental nature, they were not more so than some of the others. They had derived their estimate from what happened last year and in other years. The estimates showed the a total state of affairs. The actual total debt to date was $1,000,000, and if the house voted an expenditure of $3,000,000 additional it was not a debt until it had been borrowed and not a serious debt until it had been expended. The fact that Mr. Tweedie had been able to get all the figures he required was proof that they had not been hidden. He informed Mr. Tweedie that all correspondence with his department was answered. The C. P. R. it appeared to him, in the correspondence he had with them were more anxious to prevent other lines going close to their territory than they were to build new lines. That was the company's business, and it was pre-eminently satisfactory to the government that the C. P. R. should build lines contiguous to their own existing lines or better still, where they had no existing lines. (Applause.) The resolution to go into consultation with the company had been passed unanimously after one item had been passed which house rose all four voices on the day.

Mr. Tweedie went on to charge the government with neglect to provide a sinking fund and pay off a small proportion of the debt as they became due. Only lump sums had been set down in the estimates, so that the members must either vote blindly or force from the provincial treasurer the particulars before they authorized the expenditure of the money. He also criticized the appointment of W. J. Harvey as deputy auditor of land, phones instead of his elder in the telephone department. A. A. McMillen was inoperative of the attitude of the government in regard to their railway policy and there were no less than 11 charters granted to construct railways in the province of the present time and none of those companies with the exception of two or three had turned a sick. Why did not the government make free railway companies construct those roads or forest their charter? He also blamed the provincial treasurer with losing $74,000 a year to the province in interest by borrowing at five per cent when he could go into the money markets of the world and borrow at 3 1/4 per cent.

Premier's Reply. The premier in reply said it seemed that the hon. member for Calgary did not wish them to put items in the estimates because they did not know at what date they would be received. The item of $1,000,000 represented money they would get from various sources during the year, and although one or two of them might be of an experimental nature, they were not more so than some of the others. MODEL RAILWAY BILL NEEDS AMENDMENTS

Electric Railway on Public Road—
Bassano and Mahab Bill—
Considered in Legislature—Sub-Committee Will Review Model Bill.

The question of allowing electric railways to be built along public roads was again debated by the railway committee of the House yesterday. In the opinion of some members the construction of these railways will interfere with the proper and full use of the roads by ordinary traffic. Messrs. Telford and Headley said they would make no concessions acquire a right of way alongside the road allowance, but as was pointed out by Harold Riley, this would involve the spoiling of frontages and cause all those who own land fronting on the road to cross the railway track to get to the road. This point has been brought up in connection with several other bills, and Mr. Robertson pointed out that whatever action was done should be done uniformly. Cable companies which have cropped up during the week in regard to other bills were again discussed, and to similar matters the committee appointed a sub-committee, consisting of Messrs. Telford, Headley and Puffer, with the acting chairman of the committee, to review the Model Railway Bill and report suggested amendments to the committee.

Bill Before Committee.
The bill before the committee today was those to incorporate the Bassano Electric Railway and the Mahab Electric Railway. The Bassano railway is being promoted by Samuel Edmund Whiting, Charles Harris Frank Morrison, Edward C. Ingram and Wm. J. Robinson, all of Bassano. Mr. Whiting is mayor of the town. The railway is proposed to run from Bassano in a southerly direction towards the river, the length of the line to be about forty miles. The capital stock of the company is set down at $250,000, in shares of $100 each. The committee decided to reduce the capital from $250,000 to $14,000, a motion by Mr. Headley to further reduce it to $10,000 being lost. Mr. Riley said the cost of construction would be increased by the railway having to build numerous bridges over irrigation ditches, all of which would have to be reinforced concrete. Mr. Headley drew attention to the clause allowing the company to make working agreements with other companies. Looking ahead to the possibility of some extensive combination of these railways. Other members thought there was nothing unusual in the clause, which was finally agreed to.

"Another clause which will probably be amended in the Model Railway Bill is that referring to the hauling of grain into railroad cars. It will probably be altered to include provision of facilities for the loading of all other farm produce."

WESTERN LIBERALS AGAIN CAUSE PANIC IN GOVERNMENT RANKS.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 25.—Another moment of tense excitement was brought about in the House of Commons late tonight by the Western Liberal members. For a short time it looked like another rout from the Conservative ranks. The government was in a real danger. W. P. Macdonald, of South York, in a characteristically sensational style, tried to jump into the limelight with a resolution demanding the abolition of territorial variance in railway rates. The Western Liberals saw through the dodge in short order, and to a man refused to support a plan evidently intended to show Mr. Macdonald as a champion of Western interests. Then Frank Oliver called the bluff by demanding whether Mr. Macdonald's resolution meant that there should be no discrimination in rate because of geographical location. On receipt of the answer "Yes," he declared that the Western Liberals would support the motion. There was a sudden panic in the Government ranks. Hon. Robert Borden and other ministers rushed back among the members, but Macdonald's courage waned and he declared in a panic that he would withdraw the motion. There was a great roar of cheers and laughter from the Liberal benches.

"Have showed you up as a dyed-in-wool fakir," shouted Dr. Clark.

Western Liberals took a leading part in the debate following Mr. Macdonald's motion. They declared themselves in favor of the principle, but opposed the terms of Macdonald's resolution, and will bring it up again. The excitement brought about by the Western Liberals was one degree less than the Conservative split on the No Tenure decree.

The company was the right to acquire and maintain places of amusement, public parks and hotels, as well as to purchase stock in similar companies and to distribute electricity for power or domestic purposes. The committee decided that in reporting upon the bill, to call the special attention of the committee of the whole House to these clauses. The Mahab Electric Railway proposes to operate in the vicinity of Calgary for a distance of about five miles on the south and west sides of the city. Chief among the promoters are C. A. Owens, G. de G. O'Rourke, Joseph Hesse, M. A. Adams and W. P. Phillips, all of Calgary. Alterations made in the bill include the exclusion of steam as a motive power, and, in accordance with a request from the City of Calgary, preventing the company from using any public streets of the city for the purposes of the railway until it had obtained the consent of the council, ratified by two-thirds of the electors.

NOT USED TO ROYALTY.

American Pass Over Duke's Visit Causes Amusement in London.

London, Jan. 26.—The reference of the American press to the Duke of Connaught has caused London papers to make merry. The Evening Standard says: "The Duke has excited the greatest enthusiasm in New York—enthusiasm created by his manner, and helped by his prominence. The New York press mentions—nay, roars—at the story of the Duke's collision with a messenger boy. He begs the pardon, and everybody agrees it was just to cut him for doing anything. In Europe we hope we do not meet charabancs! we are used to royal manners, and the incident, even if a thoroughly efficient and able case officer."

SASKATCHEWAN HOUSE MEETS WITHOUT SCOTT

Premier Absent From Legislature on Account of Ill Health—Fourth Session Promised to Be an Exceptionally Busy One.

Regina, Jan. 25.—The Saskatchewan Legislature opened today in the absence of Premier Scott, who is in the Bahamas for his health. Hon. J. A. Calder will lead the government, though it is hoped the premier will be back, restored in health, before the House rises. This is the fourth and probably the last session of the present Legislature and hard fighting will be expected in a few days. The speech made by the premier was exceedingly lengthy. After referring to the extension in connection with the railway, the premier returned, which had put Saskatchewan in fourth, if not in third place in the province, and the large crop harvested, reference was made to the appointment of the Federal government for a transfer of the natural resources of the province, regarding which a conference has been requested of Premier Borden. Measures are promised to relieve the scarcity of farm laborers and farm servants, to improve the status of the horse raising industry and to make better provision for the protection of farmers from the ravages of hail storms. Further branch line railway legislation will also be submitted. Mr. Scott promised deal with the greater regulation of companies, the purchase of rural municipalities to purchase and distribute seed grain for the control of motor vehicles, to reorganize electoral representation and amend the Electoral Act. Reference is made to the successful operation of the Saskatchewan Corporation Elevator Company, authorized last session.

Possibly the most important feature of the speech is the announcement of a plan whereby the government, in conjunction with the three great railway companies, propose to deliver water from the south branch of the Saskatchewan river over an large area as a benefit of southern Saskatchewan for the benefit of those communities where water is in sufficient quantity or suitable quality is not readily obtained. Details of the plan are not set forth, but arrangements have practically been completed.

The Hardstone Brick Company of Edmonton Ltd.

CAPITAL $150,000 In Shares of $100 each

Of this sum $55,000 has already been Subscribed and the balance is now offered to the Public at par.

The Hardstone Brick Company of Edmonton, Ltd., is being formed for the purpose of taking over the sand-pit, real estate and the entire plant and buildings of Pressed Bricks Ltd., of Edmonton. In place of the present plant, which has not proved satisfactory, the new company will instal sand-lime brick machinery manufactured by Messrs. Roehrig and Koenig, of Madgeburg, Germany, which is known as the "Madgeburg system," and which is pronounced to be the finest sand-lime brick machinery in existence. This system is gradually replacing all machinery of a similar kind on the European continent.

The agents for the sale of this machinery on the American continent are Messrs. Leitner, Euwecke and Peters, of Winnipeg, Man., and the following is a copy of the terms and guarantee given by them:—

"The machinery required for the new Sand-Lime Brick plant in Edmonton, will include a complete, up-to-date, Madgeburg system, as per list of machinery furnished, and will also include two patented revolver presses, with a minimum output of 30,000 bricks per day, automatic in every particular and guaranteed the most up-to-date presses in the world. The price given below will include, in addition to the machinery, a thorough overhauling and rebuilding of the entire plant, foundations, installations, mountings, taking out all the old machinery, re-constructing and rebuilding the plant, which will be delivered and guaranteed by us to be in first-class working order, 12 months after the working of the plant. The price quoted also includes our new coloring system, by which we can color bricks in any shade without colors, and this secret process will be given the Company free of charge, on certain conditions. This new coloring process is absolutely weather-proof in any climate, and has wonderful advantages over the old method of coloring. The total net cost of this plant, turned over to the Company in first-class working order is $70,000."

Messrs. Leitner, Euwecke and Peters have subscribed for $10,000 of stock in the new company and have agreed to forfeit this sum should their estimated dividend of 30 per cent. on the above capital, as a result of the first year's operations not be obtained. Mr. Euwecke, who is a German engineer, with 12 years' experience with the leading sand-lime brick plants in Europe, recently visited Edmonton and reported most favorably on the sand and local conditions generally. He has personally superintended the erection of a number of plants in Germany which are today big dividend paying concerns. Mr. Euwecke will personally supervise the erection and practical working of the plant of the Hardstone Brick Company of Edmonton, Ltd., for the first year at least.

It should be mentioned that a sample of the sand from the property to be taken over from Pressed Bricks, Ltd., was recently sent to Germany, the subsequent report being that the sand was of excellent quality and highly suitable for the manufacture of a first-class sand-lime brick.

The assets to be taken over by the new company are as follows:—

Real estate, 11 1-2 acres at cost two years ago	$17,250.00
Factory building, engine house, etc., and construction of plant, cost	10,517.54
Plant account, machinery, freight, etc.	37,629.73
Loose tools, etc.	184.67
Boarding house, building and equipment	1,683.70
Stable	694.88

Total $67,960.52

From a most conservative estimate the real estate to be taken over is worth today not less than $30,000.

The new company will also take over liabilities to the extent of some $21,000 from Pressed Bricks, Ltd., leaving a surplus of close to $46,000.

The following is a statement of estimated profits, based on figures compiled by Mr. Euwecke, after carefully investigating local conditions, and personally examining the property of Pressed Bricks, Ltd.:—

REVENUE

Revenue from 7,500,000 bricks at $12.00 per 1,000	$90,000.00
Allowing 10 per cent. for depreciation, etc., on total cost of plant (not net)	$ 8,500.00
Repairing and Sundries	1,500.00
	<hr/> $10,000.00
Total revenue	$80,000.00

EXPENDITURE

1 foreman from Germany (expert) free house and per day	$ 5.00
1 machinist and fireman, per day	3.50
1 night fireman, per day	3.50
11 laborers at $3.00 per day, each	33.00
	<hr/> 45.00
Labor per day, total	45.00
In 250 working days at $45.00 per day	11,250.00
Office expenses	2,000.00
For 7,500,000 bricks, 37,500 bushels of lime are necessary at 40 cents per bushel	15,000.00
1,400 tons of coal are necessary at $4.50 per ton	6,300.00
Oil, grease and electric light	450.00
	<hr/> $35,000.00
Guaranteed profits	$45,000.00

These profits constitute an annual dividend of 30 per cent. on a paid up capital of $150,000.

(Sgd.) LEITNER EUWECKE & PETERS.
Per E. W. PETERS.

While the selling price of the bricks has been placed in the above statement at $12 per 1000 it is the opinion of experts that so perfect a face brick should never sell below $20 per 1000. The bricks are Fireproof, Waterproof and Frostproof, and are ready for use as soon as they leave the machinery although the bricks may be manufactured and stored outside all winter as the frost only tends to make them harder.

The above profits are estimated at 30,000 bricks per 10-hour day. Working night shifts will double the profits and output and in no way injure the machinery.

The capital stock offered for sale, viz., $95,000, is required for the purchase of the plant, wiping off the liabilities of the Pressed Bricks, Ltd., the obtaining of spur track facilities and working capital.

It might be pointed out that in the Hardstone Brick Co., of Edmonton, Ltd., there is no watered stock.

Amongst the prominent citizens who are already interested in the company are:—

His Honor Lieut. Governor Bulyea, Lieut. Governor of Alberta.
D. R. Fraser, Lumber Merchant, Edmonton.
C. Gallagher, Capitalist, Edmonton.
J. H. Gariepy, Capitalist, Edmonton.

John Walter, Lumber Merchant, Strathcona.
P. E. Lessard, M.P.P., Capitalist, Edmonton.
Thos. Bellamy, Merchant, Edmonton.
Killen & Gilbert, Real Estate, Edmonton.

Messrs. Ernest Beaufort & Co., Ltd., the promoters of the company would refer intending subscribers to any of the above named gentlemen.

As already stated $55,000 of the required capital has already been subscribed, leaving $95,000 for sale at par.

Bricks similar to those which will be manufactured by the "Madgeburg System" may be seen at the offices of the promoters.
